PREMIER LALAV EXPECTED TO PAY VISIT TO HOOVER

French Leader Tentatively Accepts Offer To Come to Washington To Discuss World Problems

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Official circles believed tonight that Premier Laval will visit Washington next month. His purpose will be to discuss urgent problems with the hope that France and the United States, by co-operation, may ease the world's plight.

An official communiqué of warm terms voiced France's appreciation of the cordial wish of President Hoover, presented through Ambassador Walter Edge, today, that the French premier visit Washington.

"Such a visit is desirable for examination of all the grave problems of the present whose solution can not be facilitated by verbal interchange," the communiqué said. This was deemed a good thing for the president of the United States and the chief of the French government to exchange views on the pre-occupations of the nations for 1932, and establish a franker understanding between themselves.

Officials unhesitatingly predicted the cabinet would approve the premier's acceptance.

The opinion of the press was summarized in L'Information, which said it would be a good thing for the president of the United States and the chief of the French government to exchange views on the pre-occupations of the nations for 1932, and establish a franker understanding between themselves.

It was the agenda too early to forecast what would be the result of the meeting.

Although under the present circumstances Premier Laval did not believe he could give a definite reply, the communiqué said, "he insisted on remaining with what satisfaction French opinion had welcomed President Hoover's invitation."

Speed Flyer Escapes in Parachute As Crash Brings Death to Two

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Buckling in mid-air, the speed plane of James Goodwin Hall plunged to earth between two houses today, setting fire to both of them and killing Peter J. Brady, banker and labor leader, and a woman bystander.

Hall, who had been using the plane to further a campaign against prohibition, miraculously escaped death.

As police reconstructed the shooting, Hunt and Forsyth were drawn about the scene. Opening the door of their car, they saw a volley of pistol slugs, then leaped from their automobile and attempted to board a "getaway" machine, traveling in the opposite direction.

The pair was cut off, however, by pedestrians and were caught by pursuers before they ran toward the art institute. Near by was found two empty pistols.

Several thousand persons emerging from office buildings, rail terminals and shops scurried to cover at the sound of the guns.

France Dominates Europe, Harris Declares on Return

Nation Has Assumed Napoleonic Role Charged by Her to Pre-War Germany; England's Power Vanishes on Continent; Russia Is Only Threat to French Imperialism.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—France was pictured as the dominant European power, with Russia the only cloud on her horizon, by Julian Harris, news director of The Atlanta Constitution, on his return tonight from a month in Europe.

The fate of Europe, he said, will rest ultimately in the hands of the soviets, but meanwhile France has assumed the role she and her allies accused Germany of playing before the war. Because of this great strength, he said, France is well able to control the disarmament conference now.

He said he found Great Britain to be without power on the continent and for that reason, he observed that young Germans see no reason why any more payments should be made. Major James L. Harrelson, who arrived in June by the Carl Schurz Memorial Association of Philadelphia to study conditions in Germany. During their wide tour of the country Mrs. Harris made a survey of conditions among the women and youth of the nation.

"Within the past 10 days," Mr. Harris told reporters at quarantine, "several American editors visiting in France have discovered the French hold the key to European affairs.

Germany, he said, was a nation that never had been for several years aware of this situation, but the Germans, Austrians and Hungarians had hoped Great Britain might prove a countering influence when French pressure grew too severe.

That hope passed permanently when in August of this year France, after raising the pound sterling gave England the pound sterling, gave England an additional $125,000,000 to restore it. America loaned Great Britain an additional $125,000,000.

"It can be said with certainty that for the first time since the Napoleonic era Great Britain is really without power on the continent. France rules, and as a result of her strength, which seems gigantic when compared with the weakness of her former ally and former enemies, she will control the disarmament discussion next February.

Leading Germans see no hope for a European alliance. France and Germany can come to a full understanding, something at which the Gallatin just now is present is not seeking to bring about.

France's present policy is motivated both by fear for the future and a sense of present power as the economic victor. If there is to be no change in the balance of forces and balances of power, France is fully justified in keeping her heel on the necks of her former enemies and driving Great Britain off the continent. But, if there is to be a new modus vivendi, with an emphasis on right rather than might and with

HOOVER ASSAILS BONUS DEMANDS

Legionnaires Told They Must Forego Proposal for General Good.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(AP)—President Hoover told the American Legion today that it must oppose for the present all increased governmental expenditures, including those arising from veterans' legislation.

5. Proposal to retain former Alderman William B. Hartshorn and Robert L. Goodman to proceed to force retention of intangible for taxation, they were retained at a minimum of $50,000,000. The measure went to the tax committee for consideration.

3. Passage of a request that City Attorney James L. Mayson proceed at once to seek a reduction in electrical bills. The paper was presented by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy and Ed A. Gilligan and was based on increased earnings for the company as compared to last year.

4. Election of Frank R. Flig as fourth ward school commissioner to succeed John T. Hancock, resigned.

5. Proposal to classify all city employees in position for civil service, measure, and other proposal to provide funds for schools and several which merely pledged council aid. The committee was instructed under the reference measure offered by White to meet today and to revamp the finance sheet in order to provide funds for school.

Standing before a packed hall at the opening session of the national legion convention in Olympia arena, the president was greeted by roars of applause that did not subside for three minutes. The crowds in the arena were sweltering under a noon day sun, and perspiration poured down the president's face as he spoke.

Without mentioning the bonus by name, Mr. Hoover drew applause from the legionnaires when he called on them emphatically for "determined opposition" to additional demands on the nation "until we have won this war against world depression."

"I am not speaking alone," he said, "of veterans' legislation which has been urged for action at this convention. I am speaking of other projects proposed in the country which would require increased federal expenditures,"

"We Want Beer!"

As Mr. Hoover stood up after finishing his 15-minute address, a roar arose from the audience from a nearby restaurant.

"We want beer. We want beer."

The president smiled as he glanced toward the jovial crowd. The chanters were the regulation legion over-seas caps.

Describing the depression as an outgrowth of the World War "in which you service brought bloodshed to us," Mr. Hoover declared that "the American people are digging themselves out with industry and courage."

"We have the self-containment, the resources, the manhood and the intelligence, and by united action we shall lead the world in recovery," he said.

"We have the self-containment, the resources, the manhood and the intelligence, and by united action we shall lead the world in recovery," he said.

"We must face the absolute fact," he said, "that the rich can be taxed to the point of diminishing returns and will be deficit in our ordinary and necessary expenditures would not be covered even upon a basis of utmost economy."

"Added Burden."

"Make no mistake," he added, "in these circumstances it is those who work in the field, at the bench and desk, who would be forced to carry an added burden for every added cent of our expenditure."

The chief executive called on the legion to enlist in the fight for economic recovery, the first stone in the foundation of which he described as

TROUBLED CHINA
ASKS LEAGUE AID

Special Session Called for Today in Geneva To Consider Question.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 21.—(AP)—China formally called on the League of Nations today to take action in the Manchurian affair in order to "safeguard the peace of nations."

Responding immediately, the league, through its secretary general, convoked a special session of the council for tomorrow morning to deal with the Chinese request.

The Chinese note of appeal, delivered by Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to London, on behalf of the Nanking government, declared that the Chinese situation was at first believed exists at Mukden and other Manchurian centers taken over by the Japanese.

He reiterated a protest that this situation was created through no fault of the Chinese and not called on the council, acting under Article 11 of the league covenant, to take steps immediately to prevent further developments in the situation, to re-establish the status quo ante and to determine the amount of reparations due China.

The Chinese government gave its promise to conform to "whatever recommendations it may receive from the council."

The situation in Manchuria is without complete precedent so far as the league is concerned. In the case of a dispute between Bulgaria and Greece, the council was able to call on both powers to withdraw their troops to their own territories. The disturbance in Manchuria, however, is entirely on Chinese territory.

The Chinese might ask the Japanese to withdraw to their position held prior to last week's action and this, indeed, was asked in the Chinese petition.

The first act of the council probably will be to give the Japanese members of the council, Kenkichi Yoshimura, an opportunity to answer the Chinese accusations.

The most probable immediate action of the council, league authorities indicated, would be to appoint a military commission of neutrals to investigate the situation on the ground and report recommendations. This procedure probably would involve a special session of the council within a brief period.

PEIPING, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Japanese News Agency here had a report today from Mukden that General Honjo, commander of the Japanese forces in South Manchuria, had issued a notification that "violence perpetrated by the Chinese at this time is no spasmodic outburst of feeling, but premeditated action of Chinese authorities who have been accustomed to insult Japan."

"Had this been left unchallenged," the statement continued, "Japan's acquired rights and interests in Manchuria most certainly would be overthrown."

"The people of China are innocent, and ambitious militarists alone are responsible for the incident."

"In view of the heavy responsibility of protecting the South Manchuria railroad, I have adopted determined steps to attain my object to oblige the authorities and not the people, the populace should engage in their occupations in peace."

Student agitation against the Japanese action in Manchuria took place in Peiping today. Mass meetings at several universities passed resolutions urging the severance of economic relations.

"This being the case, it seems to me to be a hopeful and not a discouraging event and one which brings the great work of the government much nearer to accomplishment."

The statement was solicited from the banker and was not volunteered by him. He discussed the financial situation for upwards of an hour, and the correspondent left him with the impression that while Mr. Morgan did not discount the seriousness of Great Britain's present situation, he was convinced that she would win.

The interview took place in the financier's private office in the London headquarters of Morgan, Grenfell & Company, which nestle at the end of the tiny cul de sac called Great Victoria street, near the Bank of England.

It was with considerable trepidation that the correspondent ventured into

Mr. Morgan's bank after making an appointment by telephone, b.t. the banker cast aside an almost inviolate rule, which his father had before him, against seeing newspapermen, and received him graciously.

He came out of his study reception room and stuck out his large warm hand as he laughed a welcome. Then he hospitably pulled his guest into the private office and installed him in a chair beside the walnut desk.

In appearance Mr. Morgan seemed more than a financier, rather a whole-hearted country gentleman type, the sort that rides to hounds and crosses the head of the board in his baronial hall like Cedric the Saxon of old.

Throughout the interview Mr. Morgan kept flashing a friendly smile. It tempted one to follow the lead of his close friends and call him "Jack."

There is nothing ominous about

Mr. Morgan. On the contrary he gave the impression of being a rather retiring individual who is afraid he may bore his guests by talking too much.

Twice he apologized for what he was pleased to describe as hopping about from one subject to another. He hoped he had not confused his guest.

There was no doubt that he meant what he said, although he had drawn a clear picture of what was going forward.

Although it is not permitted to quote all he said, he did not express any pessimism and he added a word of tribute for the character and stability of the English.

After nearly an hour he escorted his guest to the waiting room and he again shook hands as he showed his white teeth in that infectious smile.

DUNLAP WINNING LEGION SUPPORT

Withdrawal of Favorite Sons May Add Strength to Georgia Candidacy.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(UPI)—After canvassing results of preliminary caucuses of various state delegations, leaders of the Georgia delegation to the American Legion convention predicted that Edgar B. Dunlap would have a lead among all candidates on the first ballot in Thursday's election session.

They took further encouragement in reports indicating Dunlap is second choice in a number of the department delegations supporting favorite sons. He will draw votes steadily as the other candidates withdraw, they declared.

Quimby Melton, of Griffin, Ga., one of the leaders in the Dunlap movement, asserted tonight that there was "a strong swing to Dunlap" following last night's preliminary caucuses.

He also said it had become evident the rank and file now roundly support Dunlap. Max Murphy, of Iowa; Henry Stevens, of Warsaw, N. C., and John A. Elden, of Cleveland, Ohio, although other candidates probably will draw "favorite son" votes on the initial ballot.

Dunlap's campaign workers are laying stress upon the fact the southeast has never had a national commander. Committees have been appointed to maintain contacts with all state delegations.

General Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, was introduced by Major General Ralph T. O'Neil from the convention platform this morning, immediately after President Hoover had spoken. He received a rousing ovation as a Legionnaire governor.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT BELIEVED ATLANTAN

The body of the man found in an area of Washington, D. C., hotel Sunday night, at first believed to have been that of a Macon man named "Janes," Monday night was tentatively identified as that of Edward L. Gunnell, 27, formerly of East Point and Atlanta. Washington authorities at that time had not determined the cause of his death.

For several years Gunnell, whose stepfather and mother, Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. W. O. MacKenzie, live at 102 North Church street, East Point, was employed by Armour & Co., of Atlanta. He also had formerly lived in Washington, his stepfather said.

He had gone to Washington in his automobile, leaving Macon Thursday. Macon and Atlanta friends received a long-distance telephone call from him Saturday night and Sunday morning, in which he complained of much pain.

Gunnell is survived by his parents and a 5-year-old daughter, Joan Gunnell. Arrangements have not been completed for return of his body to this city for funeral services.

WOMAN IS DEAD OF POISON DOSE

Mrs. Ruby Cosina, 42, of 3521 Central avenue, died Monday night at Grady hospital, the result of poison, according to hospital officials. The weight of her 22-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Phillips, was endangered when drops of the poison splashed in her face. Mrs. Cosina, according to a neighbor, Mrs. Cordelia Turner, of 350 Central avenue, drank the poison while standing on the front porch Monday night.

It is alleged that the dead woman had repeatedly threatened to kill herself.

ungrudging recognition of the importance of spiritual values, then the present mood of France should be anathema to the remainder of the civilized world.

"In short, France has assumed the role which she and her allies assert, before the war, that France was then, and is in the spirit of the imperialist Germany of pre-war days, that France is rejecting the idea of peace through a reasonable disarmament accompanied by a gesture of generosity toward the defeated, dismembered nations.

But the French Germans are not only fully aware of France's present strength but can understand, although deplored, her attitude. They know they must live as neighbors to France, and therefore are not seeking alliances which might either offend France or give her just cause for continuing the war of Napoleon's policy. Germany's patience at this point is perhaps strengthened by the reflection that the great Bonaparte eventually went down in defeat.

"There is one cloud on France's bright horizon of power—Russia. In my opinion, the fate of Europe, if not the world, is written in the fate of the soviet nation. The stupidity and injustice of the Polish Corridor arrangement logically pushes Germany in the direction of Russia.

"It was Russia which broke the strength of Napoleon; and it may be that Russia, whose red army more than once has held her half-wintered, will again impose herself between France and the latter's dream of continental mastery. It is because of her fear of this contingency that France is urging Poland to draw Russia into agreements which might have the effect of binding the hands of the Slavs.

"Fortunately, Germany undoubtedly prefers, at this moment, an understanding with France rather than a combination with Russia. This attitude of the Germans seems to offer France an opportunity to contribute to the peace of Europe and the world by aiding the defeated nation at least half way.

"As for the reparations and debts question, there is a divided sentiment in Germany. The younger generation sees no reason why their country, cut in two by a corridor, badly sliced elsewhere, should continue to pay even by borrowing the needed sums. The older generation hopes for additional moratorium years and a radical adjustment of the amount of reparations now saddled on Germany."

Asked concerning the possibility of combining in Germany, Mr. Harris replied that he doubted such a turn of affairs would take place in Germany, but that if it did it would be caused not by Russian propaganda but by France's efforts to crush the German nation, and then the French would also be endangered.

Burgess Children's Stories

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When eyes are fooled and ears deceived,
'Tis hard to know what to believe.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown's Boy had climbed high on the mountain side, higher than trees grew, higher than he ever had been before, for back home there were no such high mountains. On the edge of a great rock slide he had stopped to rest and get his breath and marvel at the wonderful view spread before him. Peaks on peaks, the mountain peaks towered as if seeking to touch the blue, blue sky, some of them with glistening white caps of snow. Rocky crags were all about him. High above him Talons the Golden Eagle sailed in majestic circles. He saw other living creatures. A flock of ayas took position of him. Never had he felt quite so utterly alone.

Presently Talons disappeared in the distance and the feeling of loneliness was greater than ever. Up on these bare rocks there was no life. He was sure of it. He spoke aloud just to hear his own voice.

At that very instant there was a sharp crack, like a pistol shot. "Hello!" There must be someone else up here after all!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy in surprise, and looked eagerly in the direction from which the sound had come. But though he looked and looked he could see no one.

"That is queer," he muttered, and whistled in reply. There was no response, but he heard a faint, clear, loud whistle with which he often had called Bowser the Hound when the latter was far away. Again he waited in vain. He began to have a funny feeling. He certainly had heard a whistle. He was positive of it.

"Hello!" he shouted. "A joke is a joke, and you'll soon come and come on out and get acquainted."

The only reply was the echo of his own voice. He began to have a queer feeling. "If that fellow is so bashful what did he whistle for in the first place?" he muttered.

Once more he shouted, and as before the echo of his own voice was the only reply. "All right," he said, and began his downward climb toward camp. Not until he was nearly to the bottom of the rock slide did he hear anything more. Once again he saw that clear whistle and again he knew that clear whistle and again he was sure of it. Another faraway whistle was heard.

"I'm coming back here tomorrow morning early and if that fellow, or those fellows, try any more such tricks I'll find them," he promised himself. (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

The next story: "The Whistler Is Discovered."

Mayor Key's Friends and Foes Schedule Conference Tonight

Peacemakers in the prohibition row the club has been addressed by former Mayor James L. Key and his pastor, the Rev. Robert Z. Tyler, and which resulted in the ouster of the mayor as teacher of the Bible class at Grace Methodist church, marked Monday because of the absence from the city of Oliver Hancock, chairman of the municipal committee on Key's class seeking to compose differences.

They expect to confer again with Tyler tonight in the move to prevent a breach in the church and class, which would seriously hamper the work of the church.

The issue is clearly drawn, it was pointed out. Tyler insists that Key refrain from attacking the present prohibition laws in the church or anywhere else if he continues to teach a course of action. Key denies Tyler the right to dictate his actions outside the church, holding that while he is willing to accede to the pastor's wishes when he is inside the church portals, he does not propose to surrender constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech.

Key Monday received an invitation to be the speaker and honor guest of the Midday Luncheon Club, of Springfield, Ill., home and interim place of Abraham Lincoln. He has accepted.

He agreed to speak on "The Constitutional Right of Free Speech," and invited him to do so.

Mr. Hoover's entrance to the hall was amid considerate confusion. His escort, Mayor Frank Murphy, of Detroit, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan, and a number of high officials of the city and state, and guides appeared.

On leaving his train, Mr. Hoover was taken through the streets of the business district. He waved greetings to thousands of sidewalkers and in office buildings.

"We can carry out present expenditures without jeopardizing national stability," he said, "we can carry no more without grave risks."

"The first stone in the foundation of the stability and recovery," he said, "is the stability of the government of the United States. It is my purpose to maintain this stability and invite you to assist in this task. The first step is to maintain the stability of the government of the United States."

In concluding the president said: "You would not have the president of the United States plead with any citizen or group of citizens for any course of action. I make no plea to you, but you would have your president point out the path to service in this country. The president of the United States is your friend."

Mr. Hoover said in addition to the large deficit the government was faced with an extra and necessary burden of assisting agriculture, the unemployed through public works construction and disabled veterans.

He added that carrying out his drastic economy program these aids would not be sacrificed.

He accepted with thanks the legion's offer of help in relieving unemployment this winter and drew great applause when he referred to the fine spirit in which the offer was made.

Elmer J. Kneale, secretary of the Springfield club, told the mayor that the convention was entirely without ceremony, but was the signal for loud applause. Ralph T. O'Neill, naval commander, stepped to the platform and said, "I introduce to you the president of the United States."

The president then delivered the address he had written only a few hours before and left immediately for his train. Several times he was interrupted by applause. His speech was followed by a speech from his speech flier, "Hoover and Roosevelt."

This Season
It's Smart To Be Beautiful

Seasons past, we heard "She's smart because of the severe styles, the way she wears them, the colors she affects, or so-and-so," but never because she was beautiful. This season, the clever woman is nursing her beauty to its fullest bloom—She's letting no Empire fashions outsmart her in loveliness!

you could do with that much money! The first prize in the proverb contest is $1,000. The second is $500; the third, $250; the fourth, $100, and the fifth, $100. The supplemental prizes consist of 10 prizes of $25 each and 15 prizes of $10 each.

Proverb picture No. 10, published today elsewhere on this page, is drawn to represent an old saying that has been popular in Georgia for years. Here's a tip—it has something to do with a gold mine, you know! Don't let this picture "stamp" you! If you can't remember the saying that fits this scene, call or send for the list of 2,000 proverbs, which The Constitution is giving away absolutely free. The correct answer for picture No. 10 can be found on the list, which is a most remarkable publication. A request, accompanied by a 2-cent stamp, will bring the list by mail, or any one of these conveniently located drugists will gladly supply it without obligation:

"LIVE STOCK DAYS" NAMED BY RUSSELL

The southern live stock convention which begins Wednesday at Moultrie, was given official recognition Monday through proclamation issued from the office of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. It was the Georgia governor's first proclamation since he went into office June 27.

Because the need of a well balanced farming program is clearly apparent at this particular time, the proclamation said:

"Therefore, I, Richard B. Russell
Jr., governor of Georgia, in recognition of the efforts of the members of the Southern Live Stock Association and in further recognition of the efforts of the farmers and others of Colquitt county in sponsoring this convention, and with the hope that the favorable attention of our people may be directed to the need of more and better live stock in Georgia, proclaim and designate September 23 and 24, 1932, as live stock days in Georgia."

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The address of President Hoover before the American Legion convention in Detroit is lacking in any clarion note which might have gone far towards bringing back stability to conditions throughout the world made shaky by the financial collapse of England.

In view of the peculiar psychology surrounding it, the address is disappointing in its lack of virility. Published elsewhere, it speaks for itself.

Economy in government is urged, and a soft pedal protest is made against further soldier bonus legislation, although a frank expression of position on the bonus is avoided.

The address is a far cry from the powerful arguments or incisive hearings to the line such as might have been expected from a Cleveland, a Roosevelt or a Wilson under similar circumstances.

Arguing the necessity for governmental economy, the president says:

The imperative moment has come when increase in government expenditures must be avoided, whether it be ill-considered, hasty or uninformed legislation of any kind, or whether it be for new services meritorious in themselves.

In this, public sentiment will agree, although it is in direct conflict with the recently developed habit of calling on the government for relief from troubles of every nature. As a result of the demand to "let the government do it" the national treasury is so seriously involved that a halt must be called.

An end must be put to the business of spending many millions of the taxpayers' dollars in the trying out of impractical theories, or our tax burdens, already unreasonable, will become unbearable.

The whole world has been living at too maddening a gait since the war—and the time has now come when both governments and individuals must slow down. When we have done that, and learned how to live within our income, prosperity will return.

The next congress can best serve the people in this time of stress by carving every possible expense to the bone, and adding no new ones. That is the doctrine of the president's Detroit address—an address from which, to say the least, more could have been expected at so critical a period.

FOLLOW THE MAIN TRACK.

Democrats generally have high respect for the wise leadership of Jouett Shouse, director of the national democratic committee, couched with warm admiration for his democratic enthusiasm.

Every alert democrat, we take it, thinks he knows the very things with which the party could win a smashing victory next year, "if, when, and provided," but none of them has the opportunity to exploit his views that is enjoyed by Director Shouse. Hence the larger attention he gets for opinions that he is careful to say are "wholly personal."

Mr. Shouse is perfectly safe in attacking the record of the republican administration.

In a statement published in yesterday's Constitution he suggested several features on which the democrats might concentrate their national campaign next year, among them being a "five-day-a-week for federal employees."

Why should a federal employee be put on a five-day-a-week basis, while other classifications of business and labor are not so favored?

Somewhat or other the mistaken idea prevails that because a man is in the government employ he should have shorter hours, and be paid more, than other labor doing the same class of work. This is true not only of government employees but of state and municipal employees the country over.

The democratic party should not make the mistake of loading down its next platform with too many issues. It should go before the people with few dominant, outstanding, issues now before the public, and not seek to create new ones. If it makes the mistake of injecting new issues it will endanger its chance of victory.

The republican administration has left a loophole big enough for the party to march through to victory without conjuring any new issues to provoke unnecessary contention.

A REBIRTH FOR BRITAIN.

The British government, after one of the bravest struggles in economic history to preserve the financial stability of its people from the forces of depression flowing out of the World War, struck bedrock on Sunday when decision was made to abandon gold redemption as the support of the integrity of pound sterling currency and exchanges.

With profound reluctance the government admits that the crisis is reached when fiscal readjustment is imperative, just as the like crises were reached years earlier in France, Germany and elsewhere in Europe.

The necessity to balance the national budget, to enforce retrenchments in government expenses, to maintain a helpful ratio of exchanges in loans, investments and commerce, to restore productivity and labor employment in the kingdom, has been unflinchingly faced by Premier MacDonald and his coalition ministry. Hence the decision to retreat, at least temporarily, from the gold standard and reconstruct the economics of the British people upon bases and terms more like those reached in the other countries of the eastern world.

Many of the incidences of the new policy may work temporary hardships upon persons and classes, but the plain and hopeful logic of the policy must be to restore confidence in the financial circles of the realm, to hearten enterprises and stimulate business, to hasten the building of firmer foundations for the government, and yet not to invite extravagance in the conduct of either public or private affairs.

It has been evident for a long time that Great Britain took a bold long chance in 1925 when her government arbitrarily declared that the country's economic conduct must go forward on a par value gold pound sterling. Many wise financial experts warned then that the venture could only succeed with the world at large recovered from the shocks of war and again active and successful in the arts and trades of peace. Those favoring conditions have not happened.

Jobs for Kings.

Commendatore Gelardi, director of Claridge hotel, in London, has been loaned to the new Waldorf-Astoria in New York. The commendatore is an Italian and the distinction commanding him reminds one of the prominent position of Italy in hotel management. The explanation for this in the profession is as I read somewhere, that Italians know more about clients and just as the College of Cardinals is always predominant in Italian politics, so the Italians, with their deep knowledge of the human being in his strength and weakness, will always be chief in man's sensual culture. The commendatore goes to this latest expression of power to create an atmosphere with the "refinements that have cost centuries to produce" to fit his own expression about Claridge's.

How is this "atmosphere" so earnestly desired that the American hotel potentates appeal to Commendatore Gelardi to come over and bestow upon the English what he created, and what is it, anyhow? Mr. Reeves-Smith, the managing director of the Savoy-Claridge hotels, to whom an inquisitive reporter put this question, sought to dismiss this undefinable asset, while everyone admits that he came through environments, character of management and the class of visitor attracted.

The guests were the main factor; they imposed their standards of living on the hotel. One wonders if these great men with whom he deals are as amenable to his influence as he is. As he uttered a subtle warning which now sounds like prophecy in these words:

"The savings banks are to make larger investments in them and the insurance companies are to be compelled to hold larger amounts, but a strong

Banking Support.

Rumors of banking support in the market were widely heard in the financial district, but important banking pool had been formed as that of two years ago. Banks took a constructive step in deciding not to call collateral loans, which removed much of the pressure of necessary selling.

SHELTON FACES TRIBUNAL TODAY

Several Atlantans in Washington To Help Former Professor in Church Trial.

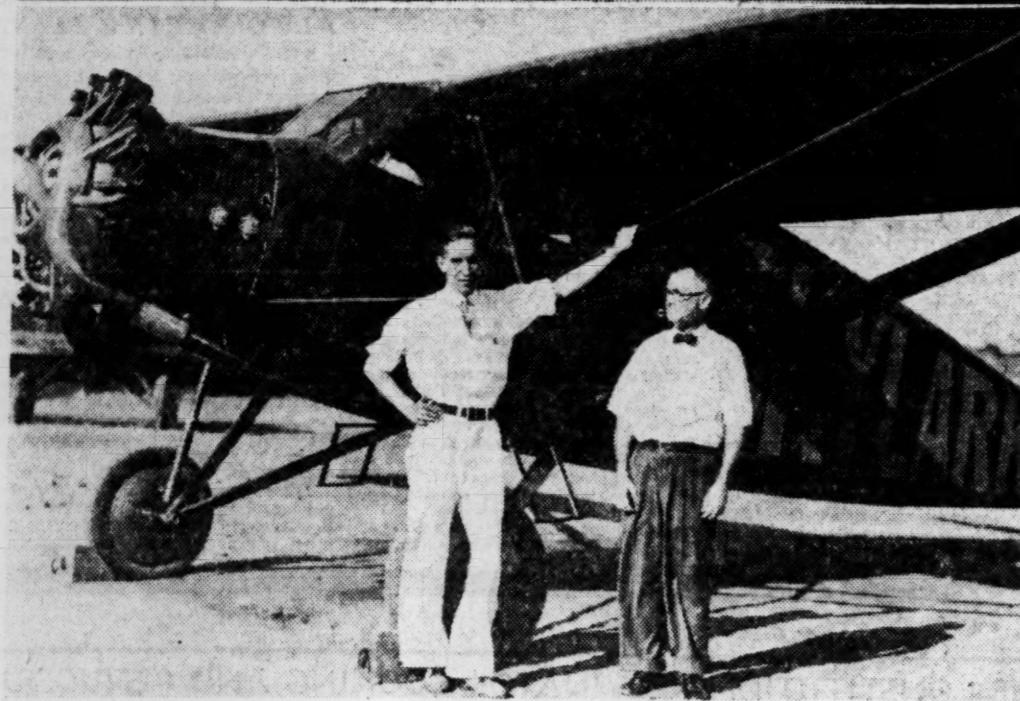

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Final preparations for defending himself tomorrow against charges brought by his former secretary were made today by Dr. William A. Shelton, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, South, and a former member of the faculty of Emory University at Atlanta.

Coincidentally it was learned that a number of friends of Dr. Shelton have come here from Atlanta to support him in the trial.

The visitors from Atlanta, numbering about 12, are said to have come here voluntarily to offer their services to Dr. Shelton. They will not be permitted, however, to take any active part in the church trial of the charges. Their names were not available.

The accusations were made by Miss Carrie A. Williams, of 5322 Forty-first street, who served as secretary

Skylark Warms Up for First Take-Off

Plane chartered by the J. M. High Company to fly over the residential sections of Atlanta and suburbs as a feature of the company's 40th anniversary celebration. E. W. Hightower, (left) piloted the plane on its initial flight Monday, accompanied by George H. Breare (right), display manager of the J. M. High Company. The Skylark, as the plane is called, will fly over the city each afternoon this week, dropping thousands of certificates which will be redeemed in merchandise at the department store. Merchandise valued at from $10 to 10 cents will be given to finders of the valuable certificates.

All U. S. Currency Protected By Gold Standard Operation

BY CHARLES D. WATKINS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The gold standard, brought to the fore today by Great Britain's temporary suspension of its use, is the basis of the monetary system of the United States adopted in 1900 after the hectic silver campaign.

It is expected that a large number of witnesses will be called by Dr. Shelton, most of them as to his character. The pastor is expected to make a vigorous defense, endeavoring to prove the charges entirely unfounded, instead of merely taking a defense.

Rev. E. V. Rester, former presiding elder of this district, will act as prosecutor. The defense will be conducted by the Rev. J. D. Rivers, of the Francis Asbury church; Rev. H. H. Sherman, of the board of Christian education, and Raymond B. Dickie, a local attorney.

Stowaways Jailed.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Three young stowaways who went aboard the steamer President Grant in New York were held in jail here today to await action of immigration officials. They were Stanley Walsh, 20; Victor Costa, 20, and George Vucker, 16, all of New York.

Various changes were made in the ratios until the gold standard was abandoned during the Civil War. Congress in 1873 adopted a gold standard making the gold dollar the unit of value with 25.8 grains of gold or 900

In 1878 congress provided silver dollars should be legal tender. The act of 1900 establishing the gold standard also provided that nothing in the act should affect the legal tender quality of the silver dollar or other federal money.

The law now guarantees that all currency or checks issued by the government or any bank will be paid in gold upon demand of the person holding the currency or checks. Silver certificates are redeemable in silver. Gold, however, of its weight, is not much in demand in every-day business transactions.

Gold certificates issued by the treasury are passed out only for their equivalent in gold—that is, when a gold certificate for $10 is paid out by the treasury, $10 in gold must be received for it, so that each of the certificates is equivalent in amount to $1,700,000,000. The treasury holds gold dollar for dollar.

National bank notes must be secured by their equivalent in government bonds deposited with the treasury, so that back of the $698,505,000 in such notes is a government bond in its treasury amount of its own bonds deposited by the banks.

United States notes, known as "greenbacks," are secured with gold, dollar for dollar, held by the treasury.

Since adoption of the federal reserve act, the far most important criterion is federal reserve notes. The law requires that when federal reserve banks issue currency they must have a reserve of 40 per cent of the amount in gold and 60 per cent in eligible securities or gold, so that these notes are secured dollar for dollar before they reach the public.

YOUR GAS COMPANY

THE ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY was established in 1856 and, except during the Civil War, has rendered service to Atlanta without even a single moment's interruption.

It is solely a gas distributing organization. It buys natural gas from the pipe line company and distributes it to your home, making sure that you get the quality and volume suitable for your requirements.

Since we have become completely independent of other heat or power sources in Atlanta, we are inspired to serve you better than ever before in our long history. We stand or fall with Atlanta on the quality of our performance and have no other interest than to give Atlanta a gas service equal to the finest in the country.

The net result should be apparent in the developments that have taken place during the past 20 months. You are getting the new rich gas, which gives almost twice the amount of heat as the old gas. Your pressure is better, more uniform. The area served by gas has been increased in a program that cost three million dollars to complete.

And as rapidly as better methods can be devised, they will be brought to you. It is our job to do it. It is our livelihood. For on the quality of our service rests our success or failure as a strictly gas distributing organization.

WOODCOCK LAUDS GEORGIA DRY WORK

Prohi Chief Finds 'Practically No Speakeasies' in Southern States.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP) Director Woodcock believes the prohibition bureau's policy of expanding the force of federal dry agents to its highest point in history has proved its worth.

Returning today from a hurried inspection trip through four southern states, he reported the addition of 500 agents in July had resulted in a proportionate increase of cases. He declined to say whether congress would be asked once more to increase its force.

"Our figures for August show it was the most productive month this bureau has ever had," he said. "Agents entered 1,600 more cases in the federal courts than during the same month last year, in addition to producing about 800 more cases in state courts."

"Our force was one-third larger and we expected this increase."

During July and August there were more than 17,000 cases in which arrests were made. No record was kept of the number of persons arrested.

The federal dry chief was enthusiastic over conditions in Florida, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama. He said, "We have the best dry laws in the south," adding that the agents apparently were of a high type and that their work appeared to be proceeding satisfactorily.

Woodcock said there were "practically no speakeasies" in that section and that the problem was mostly in stamping moonshine distilling except in Florida, where a smuggling problem was presented by the long coast line.

In 1878 congress provided silver dollars should be legal tender. The act of 1900 establishing the gold standard also provided that nothing in the act should affect the legal tender quality of the silver dollar or other federal money.

The law now guarantees that all currency or checks issued by the government or any bank will be paid in gold upon demand of the person holding the currency or checks. Atlanta will sweater again today under a fair sky with the temperature hitting 90 degrees, the weather man said Monday.

The minimum Monday morning was 72 degrees, a temperature that probably was reported this morning, the weather man said. Rainfall, if any, is several days off, he added.

A substantial reduction in the month's rain deficit was on the weather man's books Monday after a total of .64 of an inch fell Saturday. September is still .86 of an inch behind in rainfall.

JAPANESE EARTHQUAKE KILLS 14, INJURES 60

TOKYO, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Mid-Japan was shaken today by another severe earthquake, which caused 14 deaths and injuries to 60 in Saitama and Gunma prefectures alone.

In Saitama prefecture 150 houses collapsed, including the famous Temple of Hikawa in Kumagai.

Landslides interrupted rail travel on various lines and 17 telegraph and telephone trunk lines were cut out of commission, cutting off communication with Kobe, Daizen, Kumamoto and Kokodate. Thirty-two other trunk lines gave way in the metropolitan area.

Seismologists said the quake was the most severe since this year. The shock wave fell over a wide area through the Kanto and Kansai districts, although the damage was concentrated in Saitama and Gunma prefectures.

Factory buildings were among the sufferers, several tall chimneys toppling. Roads were cracked. Here and there thousands were frightened by the shocks, rushing into the streets in near panic.

Due to interruption of communications, no estimates of property damage were available tonight.

Shinichi Kunitomo, seismologist at the central observatory, predicted further shocks within the next few days. He left immediately for Saitama and Gunma prefectures to inspect the epicenter of the quake. The Tokyo municipality also sent a relief party, including physicians and nurses.

STATE WILL FIGHT TAYLOR REVERSAL

Seeks To Take Appellate Decision to Supreme Court.

Has the state the right to appeal from a decision of the court of appeals?

This question, never before decided by the Georgia supreme court, was put up to the state's highest tribunal Monday when Assistant Solicitor-General J. Walter LeCraw filed a petition for certiorari to the supreme court from the court of appeals of the case of Walter C. Taylor, former city clerk of Atlanta, whose graft conviction was reversed last week by the appellate court.

"Under the law, the state cannot appeal from a superior court decision or verdict, but Solicitor-General John A. Borkin and Assistant Solicitor-General LeCraw contend that the state has the right to take a case from the appellate court to the higher body.

INCOME PAYMENTS ABOVE ESTIMATE

Collections on Last Instalment $12,000 More Than Expected.

Collections of income taxes on the last instalment for the year will exceed the estimate of the tax commissioner's office by more than $12,000, and there are still a sizeable number of final installments due. Commissioner Paul Doyal announced Monday. The estimate, made for the budget, was $300,000. The total for the year, including all instalments up to 1930, incomes, will exceed $1,250,000.

Many taxpayers, Commissioner Doyal explained, have confused the state's periods with those of the federal government and, for that reason, owe another one-fourth instalment. The state collects only three installments. The last becomes due and payable September 15.

The $1,250,000 total, the tax commissioner said, may yet be swelled when all fiscal returns are filed. Many concerns, he pointed out, close their books August 31 and October 1. First payments of these taxes will be made when returns are submitted to the commissioners.

Attorneys representing the commissioner announced Monday that the sales tax would be extended to motor carriers. No estimate of the amount anticipated from this source was available Monday but notice has been given to the carriers that they are included in the new law.

MENJOU SCORES IN GRAND FILM

Altogether good is proper description of the offering for the first half of this week at Loew's Grand. Good feature, good short subjects and good newsreel.

The feature is "The Great Lover," with Adolph Menjou as the aforesaid G. L. Adolph is quite convincing in the role of an opera star who believes, with reason, that he is irresistible among the women.

The leading lady is Irene Dunne, remembered by Atlantans from the days when she starred in the summer light opera. Others in the cast include the tempestuous Bacalona as a jealous opera star; Cliff Edwards as a comedy press agent; Ernest Torrence as Menjou's valet, and Neil Hamilton as Menjou's rival.

It is all light but amateur stuff, and is well worth a visit to see and enjoy. The plot involves the efforts of Menjou to capture the affections of Irene Dunne. He finds her quite different from all the other beauties who have fallen victim to his fascinations and, in the startling denouement, the man of the world finds himself in a bind without and heartily recommended to lovers of light comedy entertainment.

EDDIE DOWLING STARS AT RIALTO

Eddie Dowling, the boy whose sentimental crooning over the radio has brought him considerable fame and, we hope, fortune, is starring in a different medium, the pictures, this week at the Rialto.

The picture is a Paramount, it is entitled "Honeymoon Lane," and it is quite nice entertainment. The plot is reminiscent of the stage success of some seasons ago, "Turn to the Right," you remember it, when to the right is the girl he loves? What about the final curtain? This time the action takes place in a resort hotel and there is a visiting king upon whose presence the plot depends. There are also various ex-crooks, pickpockets and other undesirable characters who turn straight and only

18,080 ARE QUALIFIED FOR CITY PRIMARY

All Time Record for Day Is Established as Books Are Closed.

Registration books for the city democratic primary, October 21, closed Monday afternoon with 18,080 qualified to cast ballots, it was announced by J. Henson Tatum, registrar, who also said that an all-time record for registration was set Monday when 1,500 were to the roll.

Dr. James L. Green, chairman of the executive committee, which, with the Atlanta League of Women Voters, civic organizations and Tatum has waged a campaign to swell the number of qualified voters, expressed gratification at the results, despite the fact that last year there were 26,000 qualified.

This is regarded as an off year. There is no election for a mayor, department heads or any other issue of especial interest.

After Dr. Green appeared before council Monday afternoon to explain that the democratic committee is powerless to call police regulations to enforce a request of council to pass a rule barring poll workers from being nearer than 300 yards to the polls, City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled out any attempt to verify or pass any regulation regarding the primary. The matter was dropped.

The executive committee, at the suggestion of Dr. Green and others, had recommended that the limit be 150 yards instead of 300 and asked police power to enforce it.

Green has championed several reforms in the primary election, including barring of relatives of subcommittee members and candidates from working as poll managers or clerks, elimination of voter registration certificates, etc.

There are 25 active candidates for the seven aldermanic places, the one council position and the four places on the board of education.

European Ocean Fliers Rescued After Six Days Adrift on Plane

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Picked up after floating 148 hours on the wave-battered wreckage of their Lisbon-to-New York plane, three foreign fliers were safe today aboard the small Norwegian motorship Belmora.

The rescue of the daring pair of German airmen and a Portuguese sportsman, who had been given up for dead, was reported by wireless a week after they were due in New York.

First came a terse message from the Belmora saying the wreckage of a plane had been sighted about eight miles off Cape Pine, a treacherous point of the Newfoundland coast.

Later advices told of the finding of Willy Rody and Christian Johansen, the German fliers, and their Portuguese companion, Fernando Costa Viegas.

Still later Johansen messaged the Junkers airplane works in Dessau, Germany, of the abandonment of their plane and subsequent rescue.

The trio set out Sunday, September 14, from Juncal Do Sol about 30 miles from Lisbon, Portugal, with New York as their destination. They were sighted twice, once at the Azores and again last Monday afternoon by the steamer Portland, 80 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland.

They had completed about 2,600 miles of their 3,700-mile trans-Atlantic journey. The plane had no radio, and as they approached the Atlantic seaboard, oceanic skies and electric storms plagued them.

When the time limit of 48 hours set by their gasoline supply expired early Tuesday without further word, they were believed to have been lost at sea or to have made an intermediate landing.

Their plane carried two gallons of mineral water, a dozen bananas, two dozen apples, and three loaves of bread, which probably was their only supply of food while stranded on the craft's wreckage.

The motorship Belmora was bound from Albany, N. Y., for Russel with a cargo of locomotives. Its agents in New York said the fliers undoubtedly would be transferred to some passenger vessel, because the ship intends to proceed directly to Lenape, an uncomfortable quarters for the airmen were unavailable.

Rody, 23-year-old aviation enthusiast, purchased the plane used by the trio with the proceeds of an inheritance, which he had recently.

Johansen, a native of Denmark, was a pilot during the World War and made a flight to China in 1929.

The reflexes of the fliers themselves during the weeks they were preparing in Germany and Portugal for the trans-Atlantic adventure made them comparatively obscure with the general public.

EPISCOPAL BUDGET

SET AT $4,225,000

Church Defeats Efforts To Reduce Expenditures Next Three Years.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A budget of $4,225,000 for 1932 was approved by the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church today, after futile attempts were made to reduce the amount in view of prevailing economic conditions.

As a part of a three-year program, the deputies also authorized the national council of the church to increase its budget for 1933 to $4,300,000, subject to the amount of collections on next year's total. A motion by H. T. Nelson, lay delegate from Cincinnati, to reduce the budget to $4,000,000 was overwhelmingly defeated after debate which occupied most of the day's session.

The national council, in submitting the budget, recommended that when and if cuts are necessary they be made in administrative economy and departmental budgets, particularly the publicity budget. A proposal by the Rev. Dr. C. Charles N. York, to cut the church's $63,000 through discontinuance of publication of The Church at Work also failed.

Delegates appeared to be agreed that the work of the church missions should in no way be curtailed.

The house of deputies debated a motion by Charles L. Dibble, of Detroit, which called on the convention "to populize" the decision of the United States supreme court in denouncing citizenship to Professor Douglass MacIntosh, of the Yale Divinity School, and Miss Marie Averill, of New York, who, for their refusal to agree to bear arms in case of war, the resolution was tabled by a vote of 305 to 106.

The convention was asked to refrain from making any change in the canons of the church "so as to fix the ruling of the church in the law of the land," in a resolution presented to the women's auxiliary by Mrs. Oscar Randolph, of Lynchburg, Va. The resolution came from women of the diocese of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

The resolution was passed by a vote of 305 to 106.

Miss Doris Hospe
Weds James Camp
At Home Ceremony

Of cordial interest was the wedding of Miss Doris Nedra Hospe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Hospe, to James Edward Camp, which was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Virginia avenue. Rev. Louis D. Newton performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of the young couple. The living room was adorned with ferns, gladioli, roses and dahlias. The improvised altar was banked with ferns and palms and centered with a basket filled with gladioli and roses, while silver candelabra holding white tapers were placed at either side.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Harriet Harris. Miss Harris wore a black gown with a wide sash and green satin slippers. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Hospe, sister of the bride, who wore a pale blue taffeta gown with pink satin slippers. Her flowers were a bouquet of Talsman roses and delphinium tied with pink satin ribbons. The usher were Caffrey Clark and Ben R. Padgett Jr. and Harold R. Martin acted as best man.

The bride, who entered with her father, Paul Hospe, by whom she was given in marriage, was lovely in a flowing gown of cream satin, fastened low with a fitted waistline. The neck was cut low and completed by a narrow collar ornamented with lace. Her slippers were of cream satin and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies tied with green satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hospe entertained at a reception and receiving with the host and hostess were the bride and bridegroom, the members of the wedding party and the bridegroom's mother.

Hospe wore a black chiffon gown with blue satin slippers and her corsage was of pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Camp wore a black and white chiffon with black satin slippers and her flowers were a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Alice Camp, younger sister of the bridegroom, was dressed in delicate pink net with taffeta ruffles, kept the bride's book. Miss Jean Hospe, youngest sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Camp left for a motor trip and upon their return will make their home in Atlanta. Mrs. Camp, who was formerly of Kansas City, Mo., is a graduate of Horner Conservatory and is a popular member of the younger set. Mr. Camp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Camp of Smyrna, and is a graduate of Georgia Tech.

Miss Mizner Weds

Arthur B. Bozman.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 21.—Of interest in Atlanta was the marriage last week in Tampa, Fla., of a former Atlanta, Arthur Bryant Bozman, and Miss Virginia Mizner, of Asheville, N. C., daughter of Mrs. N. W. Gennett. The ceremony took place September 18 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mizner, with whom the bride was visiting, and was witnessed by a family group.

Mr. Bozman, son of Mrs. Maud Carter Bozman, of Shreveport, La., was graduated at Georgia Tech six years ago and is a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. Immediately after graduation he associated himself with the Bradstreet Company and continued his residence in Atlanta for a year. He has been for 18 months manager for Bradstreet in Tampa, and will introduce his bride there to a large acquaintance.

He has retained a non-resident membership in the Capital City Club, and is a member also of Tampa Yacht and Country Club and Ye Mystic Crew of Gasparilla.

The bride, who completed her school years at National Prep School in Washington, D. C., is a young woman of pronounced beauty and charm. During a brief stay at the Atlanta-Biltmore in August with her mother, who is a frequent visitor and has many friends here, she was entertained at socials, informed country club affairs by friends among the bachelor and young married members of the social world.

Mr. and Mrs. Bozman returned to Tampa Monday after a brief wedding trip, and at once began housekeeping.

Miss Frederick To Be Presented At Brilliant Debut Dance Dec. 11

Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Frederick have chosen December 11 as the date when they will formally present their debutante daughter, Miss Nancy Frederick, to Atlanta society. They will entertain at the Piedmont Driving Club, inviting several hundred members of the younger contingent of society. Miss Frederick, who is of the titan-hair type, is treasurer of the Debutantes Club, and is one of the most popular members of the younger set. She attended Washington Seminary and is a member of the O. R. X. Club and the Sub-Deb Colony Club. She completed her education at the National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., where she graduated last June as president of her class.

Mrs. Walter Hill will be hostess November 11 at a party at which Miss Frederick will share honors with Miss Louise Moore, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Moore. Mrs. Omar Elder will entertain in honor of Miss Frederick and Miss Jane Sharp October 28. In addition a number of other parties will feature this attractive debutante.

Miss Head Weds Mr. Dickinson This Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Mildred Head and E. Buford Dickinson will be solemnized this afternoon at the residence of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Head, on Ponce de Leon avenue. Rev. Robert W. Burns of the Peachtree Christian church will perform the ceremony.

Miss Mildred Thomas, formerly of Augusta, Ga., now of Atlanta, will be the maid of honor and Mrs. T. A. Murry, of Anniston, Ala., will be matron of honor. Hill Powell will be best man and Paul Saunders will be groomsman.

Mrs. Walter Bragg Jr., sister of the bridegroom, will keep the bride's book. Mrs. Hill and her daughter, Miss Kathleen Simmons, will assist in the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill Powell entertained last evening at a buffet supper at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue in honor of Miss Head and Mr. Dickinson. The table was decorated with fall flowers and the bride's table was graced with a beautifully arranged cake encircled with roses and ferns. Mrs. Powell was assisted in entertaining by her young daughter, Miss Kathleen Simmons. The guests, who included the members of the wedding party, were the bridegroom and bridegroom-elect; Miss Mildred Thomas, formerly of Augusta, Ga.; Mrs. T. A. Murry, of Anniston, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bragg Jr., Rev. Robert W. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Head and the hosts.

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Drawing Incorrect Inferences.

The language of Contract bidding is beautiful indeed. Partners, whose ears are attuned to evaluate correctly the responses they receive to their bids and fit the knowledge so obtained into the facts as to honor-tricks and distribution shown by their own hands, are able to make bids at the Contract table that to other players seem daring, perhaps foolhardy, but that are actually safe and in accordance with the best practice of expert players. Duplicate Contract, because that affords a comparative test of competitive play, is the favorite proving ground of Contract theories. No theory of bidding is good unless, at the Contract table, it can be converted into a winning game.

The hand which furnishes the text of today's article was played in the recent Masters' Pair tournament for the von Zedtwitz gold cup. This tournament was held at Asbury Park, N. J., last July.

North and South vulnerable, East and West not vulnerable, South, Dealer.

1—East, Fourth Hand, holding 4 honor-tricks, opens the bidding.

2—It would be foolhardy for South to open with a bid of 1NT, because both North and South are vulnerable. It is true his hand contains a six-card suit and a probable trick in clubs, but a set of 2 tricks would be a high price to pay, in view of the score, for defeating a non-vulnerable game. Partner—South, if he is sure that a game will be bid or that, if it is bid, it will be made, 3—A strong rebid, as it may force West to a three club contract, if he lacks support for hearts and is again unwilling to bid notrump.

4—The bid of 2NT is made, because that West's notrump Takeout was based on more than a minimum.

The additional values are not great and many players with West's hand would not find them sufficient to count playing the notrump Takeout.

5—West, having bid notrump, is sure that a game will be bid or that, if it is bid, it will be made.

6—A strong rebid, as it may force

West to a three club contract, if he lacks support for hearts and is again unwilling to bid notrump.

7—It is bid of 2NT, because West's notrump Takeout was based on more than a minimum.

The additional values are not great and many players with West's hand would not find them sufficient to count playing the notrump Takeout of the opening bid.

In the play, North disregarding

East's bid of two hearts, elected to open his longest suit.

His hand contained a possible entry in the spade suit and a bare chance of getting in with a diamond.

It seemed apparent that the major heart tenace was held overhand, so reason led him nothing could be lost by the heart lead.

As a matter of fact, while a diamond

Opening would have proved embarrassing, West could make a game in notrump regardless of the suit opened,

although the play against a diamond

Opening would border closely on "Double Dummy" play—that is, playing in such a way as though all cards were exposed.

To make game if diamonds were opened would involve passing the first lead of diamonds and capturing the second with the Ace.

West would then lead a small spade and finesse the Knave in Dummy.

This would be followed by three more rounds of spades. Following this West would lead the nine of hearts and what North did would be immaterial.

If the nine was not covered it would be finessed and the remaining heat led from the West hand. If North played the Knave to the first lead, 3 tricks could be established by the immediate return of the suit, and West would thus make one diamond, four spades, three hearts and one club for game.

That philanthropic organization, the Atlanta Baptist Missionary Union, has issued an appeal for donations for the linen shower to be held Friday, September 25, from 3 to 5 o'clock, for the children of the kindergarten age at Hapeville. The home is greatly in need of bed linen for the numbers of small beds maintained there. The shower, which will take place at the home, will have state-wide appeal, for interested people throughout Georgia and the surrounding states will attend the shower. Mrs. James Kemp, of Atlanta, prominent in religious work in the Baptist denomination, will receive contributions to the shower at 383 Ponce de Leon avenue. In view of the popularity of the home, contributors are asked to send in cash donations so that the purchasing price of a dollar may be as great as possible.

Plans have been made to purchase the linen in advance in order that it may be on display at the home the day of the shower.

It is hoped that many persons will be invited to view the gifts and to make a tour of the home where fa-

INSTALLMENT XX.

"Not now. I must go and get ready for dinner."

"Oh, there's plenty of time. When did Morris Haverford invite you to the theater?"

But she could not talk to her mother now. She had been on the verge of pouring out the whole story about Morris Haverford, and the kiss (and the frightening possibility, growing hourly in her consciousness that she had responded to the last kiss), but if her mother had something to hide, then she could reveal her hidden secret. However, she had asked her to be honest, and she wanted to be honest, so she didn't want to deceive; she didn't want to conceal—but wasn't her mother deceiving, concealing? She turned away. "I'll tell you later," she said.

Others were five at dinner that night—June, Fabia, Lisa, Rupert and Barry Firth. But June and Fabia liked to have Barry Firth down for dinner. He added a festive element to an occasion usually lacking in anything light or bright if only the fainter presence. Rupert believed dinner conversations should not be monopolized by the children or condemned for their pleasure. Their affairs were never discussed at the table.

Barry Firth radiated geniality wherever he went. Dogs liked him, maids, chauffeurs, odd boys and girls, boys, he was liked him. He had a word for each one, a nod, or smile. This geniality was more than manner-deep. Barry felt the good-fellowship he showed in particular, and at large, and to the world in general.

"Tell him you'd be very glad to," said Lisa quietly.

"Do you mean to say, Fabia?"

"Well, you are asking if he can take me to the dinner and have the supper dance with me, and bring me home after the ball. I said I'd go and see if I was invited. He's on the line. What shall I say?"

"Who is it?" asked Lisa.

"Tuck Haverford," gasped June.

"Tell him you'd be very glad to," said Lisa quietly.

"I'm not going to," said Fabia.

Before her father had a chance to repeat his question, Barry Firth turned to him and said, "I admire her refusing to be questioned. It was getting to be a regular catechism."

Fabia shot him a grateful glance.

"All right, Tom," said Miss Fabia. "She is wanted on the telephone." There was no name this time.

"Mother," said Fabia from the threshold a minute or so later. "I am invited to the usher's dinner before the ball next Friday at the Somerset Hotel."

"Yes, you are, Fabia."

"Well, you are asking if he can down. "He just wanted to know if I'd got home all right."

"Didn't he bring you home?" asked June.

"No. He took me in a taxi to where I'd parked my car. I wouldn't have come home the way out with me here in the country. We had quite an argument."

"But why were you in your car? Didn't he call for you?"

"No. We met."

"You met?" echoed Rupert.

"The place is broken," laughed Barry.

"Where did you meet?" pursued Barry, and the tone of approval had somewhat faded.

"I wouldn't tell them if I were you," lightly Barry Firth threw out, smiling across at Fabia, his eyes seeming to have lost some of their fire.

"Where did you meet?" pursued Barry again.

"I'm not going to," said Fabia.

Before her father had a chance to repeat his question, Barry Firth turned to him and said, "I admire her refusing to be questioned. It was getting to be a regular catechism."

"I'm not going to," said Fabia.

Before her father had a chance to repeat his question, Barry Firth turned to him and said, "I admire her refusing to be questioned. It was getting to be a regular catechism."

Fabia shot him a grateful glance.

"All right, Tom," said Miss Fabia. "She is wanted on the telephone." There was no name this time.

"Mother," said Fabia from the threshold a minute or so later. "I am invited to the usher's dinner before the ball next Friday at the Somerset Hotel."

"Yes, you are, Fabia."

"Well, you are asking if he can take me to the dinner and have the supper dance with me, and bring me home after the ball. I said I'd go and see if I was invited. He's on the line. What shall I say?"

"Who is it?" asked Lisa.

"Tuck Haverford," gasped June.

"Tell him you'd be very glad to," said Lisa quietly.

Greed Corrupting Nation, Says Judge Ogden Persons

High Tariff Assailed as One of Chief Evils in Charge to Henry County Grand Jury.

MCDONOUGH, Ga., Sept. 21.—With the marvelous privileges common to all American people, it is more than tragedy to see greed and selfishness corrupting the nation," asserted Judge Ogden Persons, in his charge to the grand jury Monday at the opening session of the Henry county superior court.

The shameless record of graft and venality started with the Grand Army of the Republic just after the War Between the States," stated Judge Persons. "Today, when evils examples of greed and selfishness threaten our national life. Among these are the high tariff. The mistake of the past should not be a criterion to allow one class of citizens to profit at the expense of the other. No citizen has the right to allow legislation to benefit himself."

Judge Persons added:

"The ballot is unrestricted. There can't be government in America without the approval of the people. If the representative is not the right kind of man, he is the wrong man in the right place. We people have the right to remove him and to put the right man into the right place; Judge Persons continued.

"Three violations of the rights of mankind, denial of property ownership, of religious freedom and of free education, not practiced in the United States, are the cause of upheaval in various parts of the world during the course of history," Judge Persons asserted.

"Power still remains in the hands of the people who can manipulate any change in government through control of congress. Under the capitalist system, graft and corruption reign. Each faction excuses itself with the sentiment, 'you took yours; let me get mine.' One remedy is to hark back to the principles of American citizenship that were exemplified by General Washington and his compatriots. The United States is a gone government. There are no ideals that will bring about an extermination of greed, covetousness, selfishness maintained today. The job of each citizen, no matter how placed, is to enforce in his own life each law, no matter how trivial," he concluded.

Homer J. Turner Sr. was elected sheriff.

Other members include T. A. Sloan, Jr., clerk; G. B. Baird, bailiff. Other grand jurors are: Asa Moseley, J. R. Cook, R. H. Turnipseed, J. B. Turner, A. C. Chaffin, J. H. Knight, E. Craig, W. M. Chaffin, Jim P. Crumblie, M. G. Ricks, B. C.

$10,000 Worth of Liquor Seized Near Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 21.—(P)—Federal officers, led by United States Marshal Fred Flanders and Deputy Prohibition Administrator James Crowder, in a raid near here Monday, captured and destroyed $10,000 worth of liquor, and arrested Ed Martin, bootlegger, a charlatan, posing as a lawyer. He had a $3,000 bond for his appearance in federal court. The liquor was in sacks wet with sea water. Officers said it was a recent shipment.

It was of mixed brands of liquor in their original bonded contents, mostly English and Canadian brands.

PRIMARY IN CHATHAM HELD COMPULSORY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 21.—(P)—Chatham County democratic committee, David S. Clegg, chairman, decided Monday that though there is no opposition to Sheriff L. K. Meldrim as a candidate in the democratic primary for the unexpired term of the late M. W. Dixon, nevertheless it is necessary to hold a formal primary election.

The county schools will entertain candidates of the older generation. The county schools will compete for loving cups and other attractive prizes in the athletic events.

Various civic clubs in Marietta will have charge of the entertainment three nights. Wednesday night will be Rotary night, Thursday night will be Knights of Pythias night, Friday night will be in charge of the Civitan Clubs of Powder Springs, Austell and Atlanta.

Five hundred dollars in merchant prizes will be given away in addition to the $2,500 in premiums.

DR. HAROLD AVARY, EX-ATLANTAN, DEAD

Dr. Harold Avary, for many years prominent in dental circles in Atlanta, and the son of the late Moody B. Avary, died Monday morning in Beaumont, Texas, where he had resided for the last several years. Death followed a brief illness, came at a time when Dr. Avary was believed to be on the road to recovery.

Leaving a large dental practice in this city seven years ago, Dr. Avary had achieved a wide clientele in the Texas city at the time of his death.

Surviving his wife, Mrs. Jessie Avary; two children, Donald and Dorothy Avary; two sisters, Mrs. James Carnigan, San Francisco; and Mrs. C. L. Ledesmer, Savannah; and two sons, J. C. Avary, of Atlanta, and Dr. Hugh Avary, San Francisco.

Funeral services, which have not been completed, will be held upon arrival of the body in Atlanta. Interment will be in Crest Lawn cemetery,

ATTACK ON DAUGHTER CHARGED TO BARBEE

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 21, (P)—Mrs. Maude Cannon, testifying Monday in the case of her father, James F. Barbee, charged with slaying his son-in-law, Delmar Cannon, charged Barbee with incest and told the jury she had become a mother as a result of his crime.

Barbee, 42, is charged with fatally shooting Cannon, 22-year-old mechanic of Macon, on March 3. He claims self-defense, saying the younger man advanced on him with a knife as he shot.

Barbee told the jury he shot Cannon five times in self-defense. Although about 30 witnesses were called in the afternoon, many of whom were eye-witnesses to the shooting, none of them saw a knife in the hands of Cannon, and no knife was found, it was said.

The statement of the defense was made tonight, and the case is expected to go to the jury Tuesday morning.

EMPLOYMENT DROPS IN BUILDING TRADES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21, (P)—Employment in the building trades was reported today by the bureau of labor statistics to have fallen off 1.6 per cent during the week nearest August 15 as compared with the similar week in July.

For several consecutive weeks Waycross, with a larger goal than the others, V. M. A. points, has been declared winner in the tri-city contest, having exceeded its goal by a larger per cent.

The membership here last year reached 2,165, the local campaign having been directed by F. P. Howell, superintendent of more power for the second division. Mr. Howell has accepted the chairmanship again this year.

The simultaneous campaign for the three contesting cities will open October 26, preparations now being made for the event.

WAYCROSS "Y" ENTERS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

WAYCROSS, Ga., Sept. 21.—The Waycross will compete this year with Florence, S. C., and Rock Hill, N. C., in the annual membership solicitation for Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Young Men's Christian Associations. J. N. Brand, Wilmington, general manager of the A. C. L., has been named as system chairman for the 1932 campaign.

A total of 5,700 members for the three associations has been announced.

Waycross' goal is 1,500 members.

Rocky Mount has a goal of 1,200, and Florence an even 1,000.

Barons Are Outhit by Buffaloes But Win in Fifth Game, 3-1; Bozo Out To Slap Rosenbloom, N. B. A. Simultaneously Tonight

Ralph McGill's Football Review

Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles by Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Constitution, dealing with the prospects of Southern conference football teams for the coming season. He is now on a tour of conference football camps, and his daily stories will give Constitution readers first-hand "dope" on the various teams.

Flock of Fine Backs, Plus Stout Reserves, To Keep Tulane Near Top in Conference.

By Ralph McGill.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 21.—"Way down yonder in New Orleans," there seems to be another football conspiracy which will make things very uncomfortable indeed for the brothers in the Southern conference.

For almost three years now the Tulane eleven has been edging right into the spotlight at the conclusion of each season. Not since the early part of the 1928 season has a southern team defeated the green-clad speedsters.

A lot of the brothers are complaining that it gets very monotonous indeed to see Tulane up there in the front rank every year. The brothers, of course, would not complain if their own clubs were up there. But then you know how the brothers are in this great group over which the conference spreads its wings. Or do you?

This year the Tulane eleven is going to be very painful to a lot of the boys. Maybe all of them. There doesn't seem to be any way to keep the Green Wave from washing out a lot of the good football teams this fall.

There was every indication that they would be somewhat out of the running when the 1930 season closed. Preacher Roberts, the great center; Morris Bodeneger, a real guard; Elmer McCance, a tough tackle; Jack Holland, all-Southern end; Hugh Whately, fast halfback, and two substitutes were lost by graduation.

This meant that one side of the line was wiped out. It meant that the pivot position, a most important one, was left to unknown hands. A team in that fix, as the boys say, is usually in a very bad fix, indeed.

But if you have tears to shed, do not shed them in the direction of Tulane. Of course Bernie Bierman, a very fine coach and a most excellent gentleman, will talk very sadly about his prospects. Bernie Bierman, tall and slim and with his batch of hair silver about the temples, may even convince you that all is not well with the Greenies, and that the prospects are of a greener hue than the uniforms his eleven will wear.

This is all right if Bernie Bierman does not let you look at his halfbacks. Now, of course, halfbacks do not make all of a team. But when you find a coach with as many as Bierman has, it is most difficult to feel sad about his prospects.

Possibly You Recall Don?

There is Don Zimmerman, the fleet-footed gazelle who helped wreck Georgia and other elevens last fall. Zimmerman has picked up about ten pounds since last season.

He is kicking better than ever. It was his quick kicks, one of them in particular, that ruined Georgia last fall. There is no man in Dixie who is so adept at getting away that quick kick play as Zimmerman. He also passes well.

There is Wop Glover, 165 pounds of grit up and grit. And how he can streak it. He passes and kicks well above the average. Nollie Felts, the veteran fullback, also punts and passes well. He did most of the kicking last fall.

Francis Payne, who was a pain in the neck to most teams last fall, and to Georgia especially, is also a triple-threat man, being fast of foot, keen of eye and accurate of hand.

Lowell Dawson is to be added to the same list.

So is Jim Hodges.

And That Makes 18 Threats

That makes six men who can pass, kick and run like nobody's business. They are away above the average. They are really fast, really good passers and kickers.

And what do we find on the third team? Why a young man named George Hink. He is rated as probably the best passer in the south. But he runs the 100 yards in about 12 seconds, and so he is too slow for the first team backfield squad. Hink would beugged, kissed and put on the starting lineup of about 15 of the 23 teams in the conference. There are 23 of them, aren't there? How many did you count the last time?

There are other halfbacks on the sophomore list. Floyd Roberts, brother of "Preacher," Warriner, DeBuys, Maughn, Wilson and others add to the reserve strength.

Harold Lemon is a fullback down there who neither passes nor kicks. He is an old-fashioned line plunger. It wouldn't be at all surprising if he proved valuable before the season is done. He no doubt feels bashful because he is able to just crack lines while the other boys are "triple-threat" in classification. He shouldn't. There are lots of fast backs but not many can crack a line.

Out of the backfield list Dawson is the quarter with Warriner as receiver. It doesn't really matter. Zimmerman, Glover and any of the others can call the signals.

The important thing is that Tulane has an edge in fast, triple-threat backs.

Line Losses Are Heavy

Now, it is perfectly true that Tulane did lose one side of the line and the center.

Yet there will be some capable men to replace them. They probably won't be as good as the regulars of 1930, but they will be better-than-average performers at that. And what is more important, there will be reserves.

Bernie Bierman is going about the job assisted by Ted Cox, Lester Lautenschlager and the usual array of freshmen and scrub coaches. These include Pete Mailles and Ted Banks, both good men.

Jerry Dalrymple, one of the best ends, returns as captain. There are 17 lettermen back on the squad. Dalrymple will have as a flank mate Calvert DeColigny, 185 pounds and two years of experience. Vernon Haynes, experienced end; Elson Delaune, sophomore, and Doyle Magee, veteran, are just some of the ends.

There is no apparent weakness on the flanks.

Pete Cunningham returns at the center tackle. Claggett Upton, Bill Schroeder, Red McCormick and Louis Boastling are all battling well up in the middle. And there are others. Boastling, a sophomore, is a real sensation to date. He is built like a battleship cruiser and just about as hard to stop. McCance should be missed, but not seriously. Maybe not at all.

Guards Big and Plentiful

Jack Scaife, who is about as broad as he is tall, is back as a guard. Ed Henriques, a sophomore; John McCormick, tackle or guard; Al Padock, sophomore; Charley Calhoun; Al Abauna and three or four others are the guards. They all weigh well up toward 200 pounds. Most of them are sophomores, but they are developing well.

"Winnie" Lodiquires, sub center last season, is back. Leonard Isaac and Doyley Hill are other centers.

Tulane, with a break or so, might come through undefeated. Bierman fears Vanderbilt, Georgia and L. S. U. Yet it is difficult, seeing Tulane lose to both Georgia and Vanderbilt. Both games are played away from home, but with those backs and the good supply of reserves which will not weaken the backfield on defense or attack, the Green Wave is pretty sure to be in the front rank again.

Bierman and his aides have firmly established Tulane on the football map. The Bierman system is a sound one, and it gets results.

BARONS OUTHIT BUT WIN, 3 TO 1, FROM HOUSTON

Birmingham Jumps on McCabe Early To Score Victory Number 2.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 21.—(AP) The Birmingham Barons shelled Dick McCabe from the mound tonight to defeat Houston, 3-1, in the opening game of the Dixie series, which will be resumed at Birmingham Wednesday with the count in games standing at three for Houston and two for Birmingham.

The Barons opened up on McCabe, hitting him twice before the fifth, the Buffaloes from Four Worth for the series, in the first inning to score a run and again in the fourth for two more. He was relieved in the fifth by Elmee Hansen.

The assault on McCabe was a different story, however, than that he handed the Barons in the second game of the series last Thursday. The four hits he gave up netted the Barons three runs.

BARONS SCORE.

Birmingham scored in the first inning after Bancroft led off with a high fly which Sprinz dropped in front of the plate. Bancroft scored safe at second. French sacrificed Bancroft to third and he scored on Abernathy's long fly to Medwick in center field.

In the fourth Weis hit the second ball. Bancroft was started with a single, his first hit of the series, after Abernathy had fled to Peel. Weis then doubled to right and Gooch singled, scoring Weis and Susko. Cortazzo was thrown out by Selpf and Eisenmann popped to Carey to end the inning.

With one out Smith got the Buff's first hit in the fourth when he doubled to right field, but Selpf and Medwick were quickly retired.

BUFF'S LONE RUN.

A home run was belted over in the sixth when Hansen led off with a single, went to third on outs by Hock and Smith and crossed the plate after Medwick beat out a hit to Bancroft. Peel closed the inning with a fly to French.

Touchstone batted seven times and retired the Buffs in the seventh after Sturdy had opened up with a double. Hock started the eighth with a double, but he, too, was left stranded.

BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham won its second over in the ninth when Hansen led off with a single, went to third on outs by Hock and Smith and crossed the plate after Medwick beat out a hit to Bancroft. Peel closed the inning with a fly to French.

Touchstone batted seven times and retired the Buffs in the seventh after Sturdy had opened up with a double. Hock started the eighth with a double, but he, too, was left stranded.

Houston.

Houston had its lone run in the ninth when Hansen led off with a single, went to third on outs by Hock and Smith and crossed the plate after Medwick beat out a hit to Bancroft. Peel closed the ninth with a fly to French.

PEEL.

Peel, who had to take the place of Bancroft, who had been injured, pitched a complete game, allowing only one run.

JAYCEES START TITLE TOURNEY SEPTEMBER 29

Pete Barnes, Victor in Last Three Tourneys, To Defend Title.

By Roy White.

Atlanta's annual junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament will be played next week over the No. 2 East Lake Country Club course, it was announced Monday at a luncheon of officials and golfers committee of the junior chamber.

Qualifying rounds will be played Tuesday morning, September 29, at 18 holes, and the low-scoring eight players will form the championship flight. All others will be grouped into flights of eight each. All matches will be played during the morning, and the finals are scheduled for Friday morning.

The tournament is being sponsored by the junior chamber as the final major outdoor event of the summer season, and will be held at East Lake through the year.

Members of the junior chamber and others interested in joining the association are eligible to participate in the tournament.

There will be prizes for the medalist, as well as winners and runners-up in each flight. The prizes are being given through the courtesy of Atlanta business men, and the money on display at the regular weekly luncheons at 12:30 o'clock Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Qualifying will start as early as possible Tuesday morning, and no players will be permitted to leave the first tee after 11 o'clock. East Lake members who plan to participate in the tournament can apply any time Sunday or Monday and turn in their cards to any member of the junior chamber golf committee.

Fate of Inexperienced Tennessee Team Problematical--Neyland

HARD SCHEDULE
TO TEST VOLTS TO THE LIMIT

The Battle of Buffalo.

Dodd Gone, New Emphasis To Be Put on Running Attack.

By Bob Neyland.

Tennessee Football Coach.
Written for the Associated Press.
EDWARD L. NEYLAND, Sept. 21.—

We lost the backbones of the team last year, and probably the five greatest players we ever had in Dodd, Hackman, Hug, Brandt and Thayer.

We also lost good men in Decker, Roberts, Faust, Reinecke, Boone and Templeton.

However, we got a number of good men from the freshman team who should turn out to be stars with experience. A sophomore player may do. Some develop beyond expectations, but a great number fail to show the ability they seemed to have at first.

SCHEDULE TOUGH.

Our schedule is the most difficult we ever had. We play Clemson, Ole Miss, Alabama, North Carolina and Duke in a row. Then we end up with Vanderbilt and Kentucky. Of the ten games, nine are on the road. Duke and North Carolina have for the past year so far been headliners in the Southern conference, and Clemson and Kentucky have been scarcely less formidable.

Gehrig the Star.

"I don't think any of us on the Athletics really appreciated how good Lou Gehrig was until this season," remarked Mickey Cochrane a day or two ago. "We knew he was a fine ball player and a valuable one to his team, but it took this season to show that he is one of the greatest of all time. Just look at his three or four-year record from 1927 to 1930."

But the Cardinals this season are not far behind for an even fight. The addition of big Dinger makes a big difference. The power and speed of the Cardinals has been pronounced all year and they look to be a stronger ball club in every respect than they were a year ago.

The big shadow under which they stand is the combination of George and Eddie Peeples, star pitchers of all time, two of the hardest to beat any series has ever known.

And that type of pitching makes a terrific difference, whether for a season or series.

Tony Lazzeri, star jacket end for three seasons, has returned to school to complete some work and will help Coach Kid Clow with the big freshman squad. The Baby Jackets open with Monroe Aggies soon.

Couch Alexander's reply to the story that California was all over the lot is summed up in this statement:

"We have many games to worry about between now and the one with California. It is just as well that Francis Quinn and the others have not come up to the final day. The Baby Jackets are through with only a few laps left, and Gehrig had to face two older teams attacks so far. Back in the old days Delahanty and Lajoie were a great hitting pair for one club and later on Detroit had Cobb and Crawford. But no one pair ever pounded as many runs across the plate as this Ruth-Gehrig combination, dating back several years."

Bobby Jones.

Bobby Jones will have the unusual opportunity of playing with and against two of his successors at Essex County on Wednesday when he and Francis Quinn face Bill Burke and George Von Elm. This is one of the strongest combinations golf has brought together in long while where all parties concerned are out to prove their mettle. On this account it means something more than just a mere exhibition.

A Closer Series.

There is a general feeling in the baseball world that the next big series

Doubles Finals Set In Venetian Tennis

Doubles finals in the Venetian Athletic Club invitation tennis tournament are scheduled for this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Murphy Candler and Henry Peebles playing Nelson Maynard and Pierre Howard. The match will be held on the Venetian club courts.

In the semi-finals played Friday, Candler and Peebles defeated Gus Sims and Malcolm Lockhart, 7-5, 6-1, while Maynard and Howard won to sets in downing Traylor Jenkins and Fain Abbott, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

will be the closest of many years, no matter who wins.

In the last four series the American leading teams have bagged it out of the first game played. The Yankees made it four straight in 1927 and 1928. The Athletics made it four out of five in 1929 and four out of six in 1930.

But the Cardinals this season are not far behind for an even fight. The addition of big Dinger makes a big difference. The power and speed of the Cardinals has been pronounced all year and they look to be a stronger ball club in every respect than they were a year ago.

The home run duel between Gehrig and Cochrane is featuring the two star pitchers of all time, two of the hardest to beat any series has ever known.

With Tom Creary, the new P. G. A. champion, a victory for Helen Hicks at Buffalo would leave two 20-year-old stars on top of the main thrombosis. It is just as well that Francis Quinn and the others have not come up to the final day. The Baby Jackets are through with only a few laps left, and Gehrig had to face two older teams attacks so far. Russell Leads Mercer to Front

Kosky, backs. There were others who did not get in at all. There is quite a bit of versatility among the backs, too. While Cimperman, juniors, can kick, pass and run acceptably. The same is true of Jake Trommerhauser, the Augustus boy, who stepped in and made a hero of himself.

FOURTH MARX BROTHER.

Harold, the fourth brother in the backfield, is like the Fourth Marx brother. He doesn't do anything spectacular, but his presence is critical to the plot because of his fine blocking ability. Of the runners, Walden and Trommerhauser followed their inferiority with Cimperman, Cimperman, the fullback, is one of those quiet fellows who does everything well. He weighs only 168 pounds, and is built a little like Mahatma Gandhi, but he kicks, passes and drives the line so well that no one can beat him out of his job.

Mercer's offense is a very attractive one to watch. The Bears have a nice variety of reserves and spin that are run from the versatile Warner formations. These are mixed with straight line backs and running backs.

For the first time in years, one saw in a Mercer line plenty of power, and in the backfield several backs who could pick their holes and run. The lineup is one that can be changed without weakening it. Russell is not short on resources.

The Bears have some hard gamma, ahead, including those with the Citadel, Centre, Chattanooga, Oglethorpe, Birmingham-Southern and John Carroll.

They may drop one or two, but their chances of finishing much higher than the previous year hasn't been foreseen.

In 1933, Mercer will celebrate its 100th anniversary. There may also be a few bonfires beneath the tall towers for the football team. It seems that after all those lean years, the Bears are on their way to meaning something in Georgia's "Big Four" of football.

Ole Miss Pins Hopes On Burnett To Score

COCHRAN, Ga., Sept. 21.—(UP)—Although Ole Miss didn't make an unusual showing against the Western Kentucky teachers here last week, the team, largely composed of sophomores, was working hard today for their game with Tulane Saturday at New Orleans. Jack Morris, fast dash man, is banked on by Ole Miss to tote the pigskin across the goal line.

Movie Girls Beat Winston-Salem, 4-3

The Hollywood Movie Girls, who will play stars from Southern league clubs at Spiller field Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, won over the Winston-Salem club of the Piedmont League Saturday night by the score of 4-3, it was learned here yesterday.

The Movie Girls, besides being the best looking team on the road, also are real ball players, it is said.

EXAMINATIONS SLOW JACKET GRID PRACTICE

Coach Alex To Send Scouts To Watch Game-cocks Work.

Examinations are still causing those inevitable pauses in Georgia Tech football practice and Coach W. A. Alexander is thankful for the fact that he does not have to open his season Saturday.

"The coaches know what players to start for I couldn't tell exactly who was eligible and who wasn't," Coach Alex declared last night.

Several players were taking exams yesterday. In fact there have been few days on which players have not been taken examinations, it seems.

WARNER CASUALTY.

The only casualty on the squad, however, is Warner, a guard, who is ailing. John Paul, center, suffered a charley horse last week but Coach Alex will send him back to scrimmage this afternoon.

So far the Tech mentor last night expressed himself as being worried about the South Carolina game. He will send two scouts, Bobby Dodd and Mack Thorpe, to watch the Gamecocks against Duke Saturday.

"I understand South Carolina has some great players and I am sure they will be overhauled and crowded aside by the Gamecocks," Coach Alex declared.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Wall Street refused to become panicky today over Britain's temporary suspension of the gold standard.

Since the New York Stock Exchange is the only important world market doing business as usual, it was inevitable that a rush to liquidate would appear at the opening here. However, the market had been skillfully bolstered against demoralization, and after half an hour of selling, prices rallied again.

With minor interruptions the rally extended into the final hour when further reactions developed, although on light volume, and final prices were irregularly lower.

The Standard Statistics-Associated Press average was off 1.2 points since June 24.

Two decisions made by financial leaders contributed to why some brokers called the market's amateurish folly to rally against severe odds. First was the fact that the market opened at all when so many others had elected to remain closed. Second was the discouragement given short sellers that the exchange's notice that its actions, at so unusual a time, would be treated as a violation of the rules.

This meant a huge volume of short covering for the absorption of offerings, a cushion that quickly caught the list after early losses of 1 to about 6 points.

The strongest rally was in the rails, which reflected a well-timed rumor that a favorable freight rate decision was imminent. Extreme advances, amounting to several points, faded before the close, but carrier group was the only section to finish higher.

Foreign exchanges were temporarily closed, sterling going as low as $4.25, but little or no actual business was done. Bonds were badly hurt, particularly foreigns, although British 5-1/2s, on which payments are in gold, rallied. Cotton only to 45 cents a pale-off at the close. Bar silvers was strong.

WATER BOXES

PATTERNS-MAKERS, good, cutter, to take. Soon he came to an almost treeless area of considerable extent. Here he paused as if unwilling to leave the security of the great tree branches above him. But some need must have urged him onward for after a moment of hesitation, he moved off across the little plain. And Numa, watching from the concealment cover of the jungle, now seeing his quarry apparently helpless, crept forth into the moonlight, raised his tail stiffly erect—and charged.
